

Brassie Midge Pupa

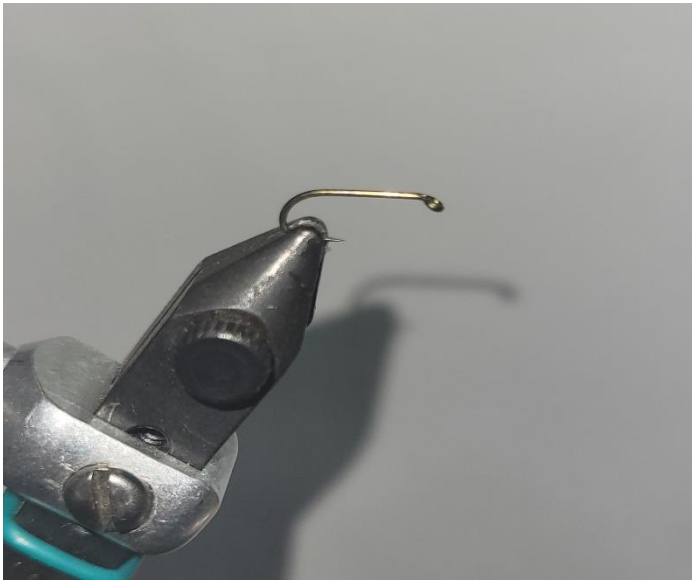

The Brassie Midge Pupa pattern is an easy to tie fly, even in small sizes. Most common color is copper but also may be tied in red, green, black, and brown. Tied with and without a bead, with the bead being brass, or nickel. Hook sizes are usually 14 to 22.

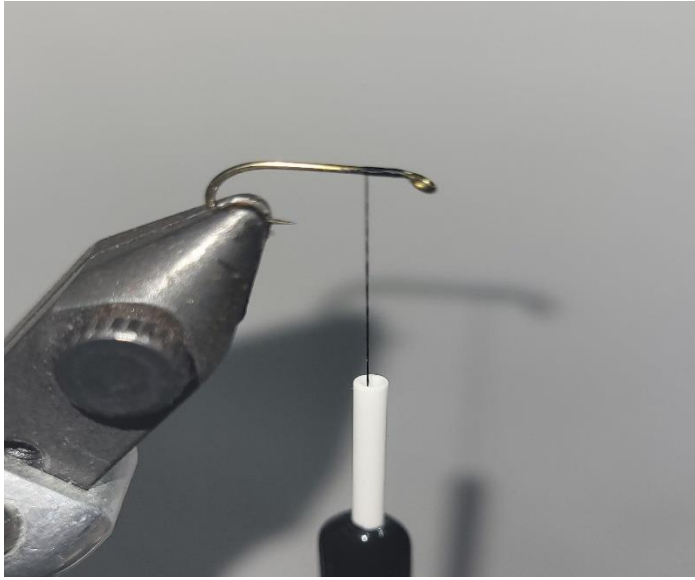

Recipe:

- Hook- Size 14 to 22 nymph hook in 1XL or standard.
- Thread: 8/0 black
- Bead- (optional) Size to match hook, color (brass or nickel)
- Rib- copper, red, green, black, and brown wire (select wire size smaller than hook diameter).
- Collar- Peacock herl

Procedure:

Mount hook in vise.

Start thread behind eye of hook.

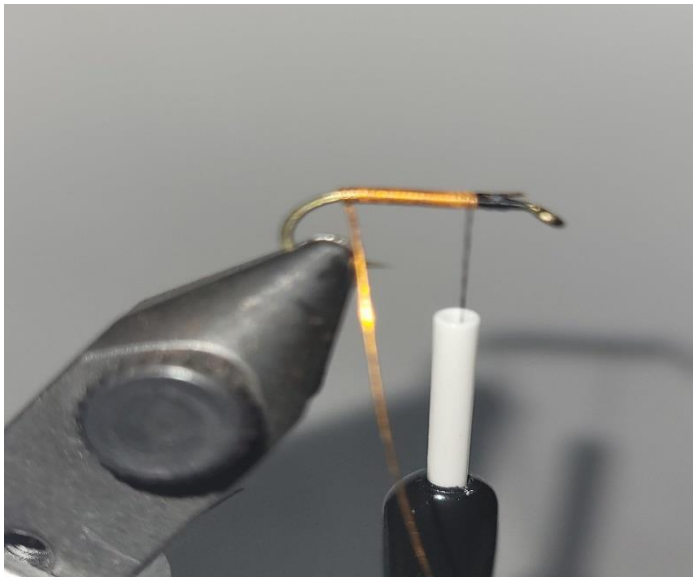

Tie in wire behind eye of hook.

Wrap wire in touching wraps on shank of hook.

Continue until above barb of hook.

Begin wrapping wire back over previous wraps in loose pattern making evenly spaced ribs.

Wrap wire forward in evenly spaced wraps to an eye length behind eye and secure with thread. Then remove excess wire.

Tie in single strand of peacock herl behind hook eye.

Wrap peacock herl around hook 3 to 4 times behind eye of hook and tie off with thread, then clip herl.

Whip finish and clip thread completing fly.
